157 Ohio School Districts Get Federal Boost

Nearby Government Installations Bring U. S. Treasury Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 14 per cent of Ohio's school districts are getting money from the U. S. government because of federal activities in their localities.

There may be a military base nearby. Or an atomic plant. Or a defense industry operating on a federal reservation.

Whatever the facility is, it has brought more families to the area—and consequently more youngsters who must go to school.

To help the school districts adjust to the increased enrollment and financial burden, Congress enacted two laws in 1950. One is Public Law 874, which provides money to help the districts cope with increased enrollment. The other is Public Law 815, which helps provide building and equipment.

By June 30, says A. D. St. Clair, the State Education Department official who supervises federal assistance, 157 of Ohio's 1,092 school districts will have received more than 20 million dollars under Public Law 874.

"And this doesn't represent the total amount received by the district in all cases," St. Clair points out, "because some get money in lieu of taxes lost when the federal government acquired the land."

About 38 million dollars in projects have been undertaken with the help of Public Law 815, St. Clair adds. From 1950 to this coming June 30, he figures the federal government has—or will have—provided $23,447,586 for buildings and equipment.

The districts themselves have or will have—provided another $13,995,754, and the state has chipped in $372,000 between 1950 and 1956, primarily to help districts which didn't have the money to hold up their end of the deal. Another two million for equipment and land improvements brings the total to slightly over 38 million.

The government bases its payments on the number of children from families connected with the federal project.

The government pays the whole average cost per pupil for every youngster who has a parent living and working on the federal facility. It pays half the cost for those who have a parent living on, but working off the facility, or living off, but working on, the facility.

However, the district must have an increase in enrollment of 3 per cent or more, and this must amount to 10 or more youngsters.

To get money under Public Law 815, the district must absorb a 3 1/2 per cent enrollment increase, which the government figures can be expected annually. Then it will get $1,360 for every youngster who has a parent living and working on the federal facility; half of that for those who live off but work on.

If it's a wealthy district (unlike the provisions of public law 874), and can afford it, it must shoulder the whole cost of new buildings and equipment. But if it can show it needs money, it will receive government aid.

If more and more youngsters pour in as a result of federal activities, the district can apply again, using the increases in enrollment since the last aid was received.

New Tax Bills Due For Untangling in Ohio Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A snarl of administration bills to boost taxes confronts Ohio legislators starting their 19th week of work today.

Leaders of the Democratic Majority were busy over the weekend seeking a solution to the tangle building up in the Senate for several weeks.

The House has passed measures to increase taxes on cigarettes, 3.2 beer, gasoline, diesel fuel, horse race betting and corporations. Representatives also expect to pass within two weeks Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's $1,808,496,000 budget bill to run the state for the next two years.

The Senate has yet to bring any of the House-passed measures to a vote on the floor. And, in addition, the Senate Taxation Committee continues to sit on a key measure in the governor's program to raise an extra 365 million dollars for his outlined state needs.

That measure is the Senate's own bill to increase sales taxes about 120 million dollars in the next two years. Opposition of Democratic committee members has left the bill one vote short of the six needed to recommend it for passage. Objections center on sections to lift tax exemptions on farm and factory machinery and to do away with the tax stamps redeemed by church, charitable and other organizations.

DiSalle remains adamant against cuts in his program and warns that he will not consider appropriations until he knows the fate of his revenue-raising measures.

Leaders of the Democrat Majority in the Legislature express concern over the situation but insist it has not yet become serious. They agree that a prolonged deadlock might expose tax-increase proposals to defeat or major revision. They cautiously predict a turning point within a week or two.

For the first order of business, the House scheduled a vote on a bill by Rep. Michael A. Sweeney (D-Cuyahoga) carrying stiff penalties for aggravated assault. The former assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor said present law permits only a workhouse sentence and fine for assault and battery in such cases. His bill would provide a penitentiary sentence.

Prison terms now are provided for assault to kill. Sweeney explained that a gap in the law fails to provide an adequate penalty for cases in which a victim is severely beaten and sometimes maimed if evidence shows there was no intent to kill.

A handful of other bills are up for action in the House and Senate. Both Houses face heavy schedules for hearings on pending measures.

Besides hearings on a number of administration tax measures, Senate committees will consider proposals to:

Ban discrimination in employment because of age, increase benefits for disabled workers, allow the State Supreme Court instead of voters to pick the chief justice, ban drag racing on highways, boost the pay of county officials on the basis of population and make the killing of game protectors a first degree murder offense.

House approved measures up for Senate hearings would:

Authorize public housing officials to set aside units for the aged, ban motor scooter licenses for 16 and 17-year-olds and allow sheriffs to call on deputies of other counties for help.

House proposals up for hearings would:

Liberalize workmen's compensation benefits, provide four-year terms for state representatives and village councilmen, create an administration-backed department of industrial and economic development, provide for statewide regulations of watercraft, create an Ohio real estate commission, provide for splitting city income taxes with outside areas where taxpayers live, set up a seven-member welfare advisory board, enact a uniform commercial code and increase auto registration fees to $15 a year.

Senate-passed bills up for hearing in the House include a proposal to boost unemployment benefits and broaden the coverage on jobless workers.

Jail Escape Made Because He's Lonesome

FARMINGTON, Mo. (AP)—"I was just lonesome for mom."

That was the way retrained Billy Glenn Newhouse—accused of murder, kidnapping and rape—explained his escape from the ancient St. Francois County jail on Mother's Day.

Newhouse came back to jail of his own accord, flanked by his mother and two aunts, about nine hours after the escape was discovered. Three men who fled with him are at large.

Newhouse, 22, is to go on trial Thursday on a charge of murdering his uncle a year ago.

He walked into the office of Sheriff Clay H. Mullins Sunday and said: "I realized I made a mistake and wanted to come back."

One of the two aunts with him was Evelyn Greco, 42, of St. Louis, who persuaded him to surrender to a posse in a wooded area last year.

His mother, Virginia Newhouse, 40, and Miss Iva Gibson, 44, of St. Louis, also were with him.

Mrs. Greco said Newhouse telephoned her from a service station in St. Louis and told her he wanted to go back.

She said: "he said he wanted to see his mom for Mother's Day and he knew he had done wrong."

Newhouse is accused of the fatal shooting last May 15 of James L. Huskey, 58, because Huskey wouldn't lend him his car.

Severe Windstorms Stretch From Midwest to Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spinning windstorms reached into Michigan and Illinois today, killing one person at Ann Arbor and causing severe damage. Monticello, in central Illinois, was hit also.

The tight twisting winds chewed into the central Great Lakes region after weekend tornadoes ripped into six states in the plains and Midwest, killing 5, injuring 21 and causing heavy property damage.

The Ann Arbor storm, described by witnesses as a small tornado, ripped part of the roof from Yost Fieldhouse. At the big University of Michigan stadium, press box windows were blown out.

One woman was reported killed by a fallen electric line. Two houses were set afire.

Apparently, only the Monticello area was hit in Illinois.

Striking just before dawn, the Illinois twister cracked a wall and damaged the roof of a one-story plant, upset two parked truck trailers, shattered a dozen store

Oklahoman Recalls How Tornado Hit

STONEWALL, Okla. (AP)—Lillian Thompson looked over wreckage on the tornado-scarred hills around her home near here Sunday.

At her feet were a few dishes, some clothing and the door of the house where she and her husband lived. The rest of the structure was scattered over the countryside.

A stray pig wandered in the Thompson farmyard. Mud-covered and weary, Mrs. Thompson talked with friends.

"I had time to get to my shelter. Then I heard it coming over," she said, referring to the tornado which had killed 5 of her neighbors and injured 9 others in the community of Frisco.

"It sounded like a thousand winds blowing in all directions at the same time. I couldn't keep my lamp lit. I kept trying to keep that lamp lit but it would blow out. It isn't so bad with light, you know," she explained.

Her husband nodded. He was working in nearby Ada, Okla., when the twister hit Saturday night.

W. W. Scarbrough, a neighbor of the Thompsons, looked over on a hill a few hundred yards to the southeast. L. Tom Daniel, an old-timer in these parts, had lived there. He was dead, three members of his family hospitalized.

"I came in fast and we were running toward our shelter. The wind almost took some of us. We didn't know about the Daniels' place until later," said Scarbrough.

"Then we looked out the door. We could see his barn was gone. We went closer. Everything was gone."

windows in town and snapped utility lines.

A number of roofs were damaged in the town, but no one was injured.

Thunderstorms broke out in warm, humid air in the east and another thunderstorm cracked over Mobile, Ala.

Rains swept wide areas of the Midwest in the wake of the destructive storms.

By states, this was the tornado-drawn picture:

TEXAS—Ten tornadoes danced through Texas, injuring at least six persons and causing an estimated $300,000 property damage. One smashed into a residential and industrial area in northern Austin and another lashed a rural area seven miles south of the community of Hearne. It was in that rural area that the six persons were hurt.

OKLAHOMA — The community of Frisco, in the southeastern section of the state about 12 miles south of Ada, suffered probably the heaviest tornado damage. Five persons were killed there and nine others injured. The twisters also whipped through the resort area around the Grand Lake in Northeastern Oklahoma, causing high property damage and injuring two.

IOWA—Buildings on 14 farms were flattened, the four-building community of Fansler was wiped out, and 70 head of cattle, 5,000 young turkeys and 700 hens destroyed in the weekend tornadoes. Only one man was injured. The communities of Guthrie Center, Yale, Rippey and Bagley also suffered property damage.

WISCONSIN — A tornado cut through sections of Green Bay and the suburbs of Preble and Ashwaubenton, injuring three persons, demolishing six homes and heavily damaging 5 others. Roofs were ripped from two paper company warehouses and four industrial buildings were demolished. High voltage wires were downed.

KANSAS and MISSOURI—Small tornadoes causing minor property damage in Elwood, Kan., across the Missouri River from St. Joseph, Mo., and at Elmo in the northwest corner of Missouri. At St. Joseph, winds unroofed an old theater.

Ohio Safety Chiefs Laud Motorists

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio motorists were in for a pat on the back today after safety officials reported that traffic fatalities for the first quarter of 1959 had dropped 19 per cent below 1958's first-quarter figure.

The Department of Highway Safety said there were 327 traffic deaths in the first three months of 1959 compared with 404 for the same period last year.

The department reported a 21 per cent reduction in rural fatal deaths and a 16 per cent drop in urban road deaths.

Drivers in the 25-34 age bracket had the worst record with 36 deaths. Pedestrian fatalities were highest in the 65-74 age group with 27 killed.

Here Are Sketches Of Top Ministers

GENEVA (AP)—The titans of Molotov, Dulles, Acheson, Eden and Bidault—are in political obscurity or retirement.

The world is waiting to see how their successors will measure up in dealing with some of the crucial problems facing the world.

Christian A. Herter of the United States, Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union, Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Maurice Couve de Murville of France all are experienced diplomats but none has led his country's delegation at a Big Four parley before.

Herter, 64, is the dean of the group in age but the least experienced in international negotiations. Gromyko at 49 is the youngest but the veteran of the most conference tables. Lloyd is 54 and Couve de Murville 52.

Iron-visaged Gromyko was once called the boy wonder of the diplomatic world. Dark, heavy-set and square-shouldered, he is a veteran of Kremlin politics under Stalin, Malenkov and Khrushchev.

A man of impassive Slavic calm, Gromyko has big shoes to fill at this Geneva conference. Former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was considered by many Western statesmen to be the most skillful professional diplomat of this century.

America's Herter has had only a few scant weeks to move out from under the towering shadow of John Foster Dulles into the limelight of the west's ranking diplomat.

At the Paris conference with Lloyd and Couve de Murville last month—his first diplomatic mission abroad after succeeding Dulles—Herter displayed calm and competence in helping to bridge allied differences.

Tall, lanky, Couve de Murville has served France in top diplomatic posts since World War II but has just begun to make big international headlines. He has turned in a topflight job of assignments ranging from secretary of

Six Injured In Two Car Collisions

Six persons were injured, none seriously, in two auto crashes Saturday in Pickaway County.

The first accident, at 1:35 p. m. in Ashville involved cars driven by Alice Manion, 20, Ashville, and Henry J. Ayers Jr., 20, Route 4, Circleville.

Ayers was treated at Berger Hospital for chest injuries and lacerations of the chin and left arm. The other driver was not hurt.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the Manion car was headed east on Main St. Ayers' car, coming west, apparently went across the center line, he said.

RADCLIFF said both cars were slightly damaged. Ayers was cited for driving left of center, he added.

The second crash was at 4:35 p. m. on Route 23 about six miles north of Circleville.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover said the cars involved were driven by Orland J. Cordesco, 45, Columbus, and Leslie Hardin Jr., 28, Route 2, Chillicothe.

Cordesco was treated at Berger Hospital for abrasions of the head and a bruised left knee. Hardin suffered lacerations of the face and possible chest injuries.

Passengers injured in the Cordesco car were: Edna Cordesco, 43, a fractured left rib and lacerations and abrasions; Genevieve Cordesco, 18, a lacerated eyelid; and Claude Mullins, 22, scalp lacerations and contusions of the left shoulder.

Deputy Hoover said Cordesco's car, headed south, attempted to make a left turn. Hardin's auto, following behind, did not stop in time, he said.

Hoover said both vehicles were heavily damaged.

Hat Fuss Proves Fatal

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An argument over a hat led to the fatal stabbing Sunday of Carriel Cunningham, 35, of Dayton. Police are questioning John H. Smith, 42, the Free French "war commissioner" to trouble shooter for then Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and ambassador to Washington and Bonn.

Selwyn Lloyd succeeded one of the outstanding foreign secretaries Britain has produced this century—Sir Anthony Eden.

Lloyd thinks and dresses like Eden. He was appointed minister of state at the Foreign Office when Sir Winston Churchill's Conservatives swept into power in 1951. Sent to Paris as a delegate to the U.N. Assembly, he quickly tangled with the Soviet Union's acid-tongued Andrei Vishinsky.

Vishinsky once told a colleague: "That young Englishman—he's tough."

Ex-Nazi Officer Surrenders After 14 Years

CINCINNATI (AP)—"I never was a Nazi and never wanted to go back to Germany under any conditions."

That was the quiet statement in flawless English by a balding one-time German army officer, Lt. Kurt Rossmel, sought by the FBI for 14 years.

Rossmel, 52, and an expert linguist, said he faded into anonymity in Chicago and stayed there after escaping in August 1945, from prisoner-of-war Camp Butler, N. C. He finally surrendered to the FBI here Sunday. The Immigration and Naturalization Service holds a hearing today on his status.

The FBI turned over Rossmel to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, but he was released pending today's hearing. A spokesman for the service said Rossmel cannot be charged with illegal entry into the United States because he was properly admitted as a prisoner of war.

The spokesman also said the statute of limitations may have run out on prosecution for Rossmel's escape from the POW camp in 1945.

At a German-American club here Kurt Rossmel told of his wanderings.

He said he had just returned from a Dutch East Indies plantation when he entered the German army in 1941.

"I was told that was the safest place to be," he said. "I was working in Holland when the Nazis took over the country. I went into the army as a private."

Rossmel said he was on kitchen police when a sergeant overheard him translating conversation between a Russian and a Czech.

"The next thing I knew, I was transferred to a language school in Berlin and a short time later commissioned a second lieutenant."

That led to duty as an interpreter in North Africa with Rommel's Afrika Korps. He was captured there.

Rossmel was at POW Camp McCain, Miss., for five months from October 1943, and then shifted to Butler.

"When the war was about over," he said, "I decided I did not want to go back."

"I had received $20 a month as a POW lieutenant and had earned 80 cents a day doing extra work and thought I would use this money to escape with."

He made his way to nearby Danville, Va.

"I bought a new suit of clothes, shaved off my moustache and ditched the glasses," he said.

He headed straight for Chicago, took the name Frank Ellis and took the first of a series of jobs, including punch press operator, bartender, waiter and elevator operator.

Ill health finally ended his shadow life.

"I'm suffering from arthritis," he said, "and was advised to move to Arizona or New Mexico. When I got to Cincinnati, I was broke and decided to give up running."

Talks Delayed 2 1/2 Hours by Soviet Demand

East Germany Denied Equal Seating by Geneva Conference

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers opened their conference on cold war problems tonight, 2 1/2 hours late, after running around for a time on the question of how the East German government should participate.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko filed into a conference room in the Palace of Nations. The room contained a round table for the Big Four and separate tables for the East and West German representatives.

In a day of private consultations, the Western powers headed off Gromyko's attempt to get full participation rights for Communist East Germany. Until late afternoon it seemed likely the formal opening would have to be put off until Tuesday.

Then an informal session of the four ministers finally came up with an agreement giving the East and West Germans limited speaking rights in the conference but no seats at the main table. They also decided on the conference room furniture—an argument tied in with the German participation.

The first session of the conference was scheduled for the Palace of Nations. Instead, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and his Soviet, British and French counterparts got together informally at a British villa.

From this meeting Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko emerged with the announcement the formal session was set for 6 p.m.

"There has been a complete agreement on all procedural and administrative matters," he said, adding that this included the question of German participation.

Gromyko left the informal parley first. He was followed by Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Lloyd, designated to preside at tonight's opening session, led the efforts to resolve the dispute involving the whole issue of the status of the Red East German regime.

The formula decided upon for the formal opening session was as follows:

The East and West Germans sit at separate tables. The Big Four foreign ministers sit at a round table but all on one side, leaving one side vacant.

The West German table is closer to the seat occupied by Herter, the East Germans closer to Gromyko. The two German delegations are separated by a third small table for the conference secretariat.

Asst. U.S. Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding held up a diagram of the seating arrangement for reporters to see.

Asked if the West had made any concession to the Russians, Berding said: "We haven't given way on anything."

Western spokesmen said the separate tables idea met the original Western objections to having the meeting at a round table. The West had feared that if only a round table was used the Russians (Continued on Page Two) would try to squeeze in first the East Germans and later the Poles and Czechoslovaks as full participants.

Under the agreed upon formula the Germans are advisers and not full participants as demanded by the Russians.

If either the East or West German representative desires to speak, the conference chairman will ask if any of the Big Four foreign ministers has any objections. If there are none, the floor will be given to the Germans.

A U.S. spokesman told newsmen the United States would not want to see the Geneva conference break up on a procedural issue.

The Soviet move on the eve of the conference created an atmosphere of crisis which momentarily obscured the larger crisis of Berlin.

The opening speeches by Lloyd, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Gromyko and Couve de Murville were expected to swing attention back to the main issues. These include the Soviet bid for withdrawal of Western forces from West Berlin and a prospective proposal by the Western powers for step-by-step unification of East and West Germany.

The three Western leaders want to find out in the next week or two whether there is any possibility of winning Soviet acceptance of German unification at a summit conference. Agreement on a unity plan would almost automatically solve the Berlin problem since Berlin would be the capital of a reunited country.

Quick Comeback By Germans Attracts Yanks

But Investment Men
Taking Second Look,
Fearing Possible Bust

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
FRANKFURT (AP)—The quick comeback of West German industry after a crippling war has lured many American investors into the German stock market. Until recently, the much larger yields on common stocks here than in the United States have boosted the trend.

Today both Americans and Germans are taking a second look. German stock prices have risen because of the buying spree both here and overseas. German authorities, wary of past booms and busts, aren't sure they welcome any possibly purely speculative interest.

Conservative German financiers are trying to adjust to some new ideas, well rooted in America—mutual investment funds, stock buying by insurance and pension funds. And, belatedly, there is an interest in the stock market by the average German citizen—an interest long cultivated in the United States by stock exchanges and mutual funds.

The rush of United States investors to buy German and other European stocks came after the prices of American stocks were pushed up to record highs, which left their yields relatively low, often lower than on bonds.

German stocks, meanwhile, were yielding 5 per cent on average. At their market price they seemed a bargain, and investors moved in. Their buying has forced stock prices here up, and the yield is now down nearer that to be had in New York.

Current prices of German stocks, for example, on the basis of last year's dividends now average out at a yield of 3.2 per cent. Germans stress this is due to the rise in stock prices, not to any drop in dividends. On the contrary, the average dividend paid by German companies on the stock exchanges has risen from 8.5 per cent of par value in 1957 to 10 per cent today.

Americans interested in stock trading note one striking difference in Germany from the United States. Here the large part of stock trading is done by the banks. Most persons buy through them instead of stock brokers and underwriters. The majority of German banks have a large portfolio of common shares—something you don't find in U.S. bank statements.

The German public's interest, long dormant, is also being inspired now by the so-called people's shares, a device by which the government is partially transferring its industrial enterprises to private ownership. This may include an issue of shares in Volkswagenwerk, to let the average German share in the profits from Americans' yen for the German small auto.

Albert is a victim of muscular dystrophy. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Brosseau of Somerset have cared for him since birth.

Albert's brother, Roger, 8, suffers from the same illness, but it has not progressed as far as it has with his older brother. He lives with his parents in Fall River.

Nation's No. 1 G-Man Marking 35 Years on Job

Editor's Note — For millions of Americans, J. Edgar Hoover is the FBI. And yesterday, when he celebrated the 35th anniversary of his appointment of director, the questions inevitably arose: What events of his long career stand out in his memory? What about retirement?

By JACK ADAMS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's No. 1 G-man reached an important milestone Sunday — 35 eventful years as boss of the FBI, and the longest tenure for a federal agency head in the country's history.

But there is every evidence that John Edgar Hoover has the same drive and zest for his job that marked his wonder boy era back in the roaring twenties.

That era had its start when Hoover, just 29, was placed in charge of a discredited, scandal-ridden organization of political hacks whose staff reputedly included some ex-convicts. It is history now—the story of how he cleaned out the bureau with a stern hand and went ahead to make it one of the world's most renowned and most respected investigative agencies.

Hoover, who passed his 64th birthday last Jan. 1, has no thought of retiring.

A few days ago he told me: "Old age will have to run mighty fast to catch up with me."

The FBI director serves at the pleasure of whoever happens to be attorney general. Hoover, who has no political affiliation, has held the job under five presidents and a dozen attorneys general, Democrat and Republican.

Att. Gen. Rogers laughed off a question about a possible Hoover retirement and said:

"I am the 12th attorney general who has had the privilege of working with Mr. Hoover in the 35 years he has directed the FBI. This is a demonstration of the working of the immutable law of the survival of the fittest. I am sure each of my 11 predecessors have felt as I feel, that without Edgar Hoover his task would have been immeasurably harder."

Who would succeed Hoover if he should retire? One rarely hears talk about a successor, but two names are mentioned occasionally: Clyde A. Tolson, the associate director who has worked at Hoover's side for 31 years, and Edward A. Tamm, who was assistant to Hoover for 20 years before accepting a federal district judgeship in the District of Columbia. A bachelor, Hoover lives in a modest home in a fashionable Washington neighborhood with his two Cairn terriers — G-boy and Tucker—and raises roses in his leisure hours.

He believes in keeping fit. Just under 6 feet, he watches his diet and keeps his weight at 175 pounds. Weather permitting, he daily dismisses his car a mile short of his office in the Justice Department Building and strides the last lap at a gait that frequently winds companions.

Hoover reads several newspapers every day — including the comic strips and everything in the sports section. His favorite books are the biographies of great Americans.

At the office, he maintains constant personal touch with everything of importance that is going on at the moment. There is a standing rule that any employee who wants to see him has only to ask.

I asked Hoover what kind of qualities a young man of today should have to make a success of an important job. He said:

"Most important, to my mind, is humility—to remember that he is not trying to build his own reputation but is serving his fellow man. Many careers are wrecked when individuals forget the role of service and follow their own personal desires, whether for money, social position, prestige, etc. In our society today, the greatest opportunities are those of helping others.

"Next is integrity, that is, being a man of your word. If you say one thing and do something else—well, that is the way to undermine your reputation among others. Stand for what you think is right, regardless of criticism.

"Also, there is hard work. Over my 35 years I can truthfully say that there is no substitute for hard work. To guide your career just by the clock is to lose the true meaning of a job. Give your job your whole heart. If a job is worth doing, do it well."

Out of a treasure trove of memories as gangbuster, crusader against communism, constant champion of better-trained, better-paid police, what does Hoover remember best?

May 10, 1924, of course. That was the day Atty. Gen. Harlan Fiske Stone, later Chief Justice of the United States, called him in to take over the FBI. Hoover recalls: "The tone of his voice was such that I knew he was depending on me and I had to do the job right. When a man puts confidence in you, you simply have to live up to that trust. Over the years I've found that this is indeed a good guide to life. That decision put me on the spot. I had to succeed."

May 1, 1936 — Hoover flew to New Orleans and personally arrested Alvin Karpis, the No. 1 badman of his day, who had been boasting that he planned to rush Hoover's office in Washington and kill him.

"I remember that day well," says Hoover. "We in the FBI had a deep feeling of satisfaction in finding Karpis. He was a badly wanted fugitive. His arrest helped us defeat the criminal gangs of that day."

Dec. 7, 1941—Pearl Harbor Day. Says Hoover: "When the Japanese bombs hit Pearl Harbor, we in the FBI placed into immediate operation previously prepared plans for guarding the nation's internal security. I was proud of the way FBI employees responded to the challenge — working around the clock to do their job. This was typical of their loyalty to duty."

And finally, May 22, 1950. That was the day that Harry Gold, master Russian atomic spy, confessed his activities after being picked up by the FBI, a confession which broke the back of atomic spying in this country.

"Those were busy days at the FBI," Hoover recalls. "Atomic bomb secrets had been stolen by the Russians. The spy was here in the United States—somewhere. We had to find him. We did—a chemist in Philadelphia, Harry Gold. This meant that one of our most important cases had been solved."

Gold, who pleaded guilty to an espionage charge, is now serving a 30-year prison term.

Germany Plans Lower Trade Curbs on U. S.

Bonn Government
Seeks Bigger Flow
Of Investment Cash

BONN (AP) — Germany hopes to lower trade barriers with the United States still further as soon as possible—even including the controversial 10 per cent levy on now unwanted American coal. It also plans to encourage a two-way flow of capital investment.

These are the promises of finance Minister Franz Etzel. Etzel also said in an interview that Germany's troubles with its partners in the European economic union are "children's diseases of the common market" and are being worked out. Tax differences, subsidies and production practices are being ironed out. Even the long-term goal of a common currency is capable of final solution.

"Germany shouldn't be a closed shop," Etzel said of trade with America. "It doesn't intend to follow a protectionist policy. The tendency is all toward a liberal trade policy."

But the trade gap with the United States still exists, although it is narrowing, largely thanks to American buying of German autos. West Germany imports more from America than it sells there, but its exports to the United States are growing.

Germany's over-all trade picture, however, is bright and growing brighter, with total exports outweighing total imports so that its gold reserves are impressively high. Japan and other industrially developing countries are giving Germans their keenest competition now.

Before the coal and steel recession here last year Germany had freed 84 per cent of American imports from quota restrictions. Now 81 per cent of American trade is free—leaving some 400 items under controls out of a total of 6,000. Most important still restricted are textiles, plastics, chemicals, glass, ceramics and leather—and the special case of American coal.

Coal, steel and textiles are the problem children of German industry today. The economy as a whole rose last year and is rising still higher now.

The finance minister said that despite the efforts to block American coal imports, cutting down on mining hours from 45 to 40 a week, and of the mining force of 480,000 by 30,000, Germany is still adding 30,000 tons to its stocks every day and now has 14 million tons in reserve.

"If idleness continues in the coal industry," Etzel said, "there is always the danger of Communist infiltration among the jobless."

He Knows His Rights

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Election Board secretary John Bumgarner said a citizen who had returned to his office for the third time to correct a minor provision of the law preventing him from voting protested strongly. The man asserted the Constitution gave him the right to vote, to which the secretary said, "And the Bill of Rights gives you free speech, too." Replied the citizen: "That's all I'm getting, lots of talk."

No Easy Choice Ahead

At short range, it is natural that popular attention in this country should be focused on Berlin. But a peaceful settlement of this crisis, however welcome, would by no means end the West's difficulties with Soviet Russia.

At long range, the United States must be ready for ever increasing competition from the Soviets, and not alone military. In economic progress and in education, the Russians are developing a formidable challenge for the years ahead.

The implications of this broader rivalry have been spelled out by Defense Secretary McElroy. Addressing American newspaper publishers, the secretary warned, for example, that aside from continued Soviet advances in education, Russia over the next seven years would be able to "increase present military spending by 50 per cent."

Students Not Wishy-Washy

Much has been heard about wishy-washy college students of today who refuse to take stands on issues. But at least one man who ought to know disagrees. He is Dr. Millard Scherich, head of the department of religion at Oklahoma State University, who contends in a recent article:

1. There are more Christian students—percentage-wise—than 20 years ago because students today are more willing to take a stand on issues.

2. There are more non-Christian students and for exactly the same reason.

"Students today," Dr. Scherich writes, "are much more willing to commit themselves. This has resulted in an increase in size of both Christian and non-Christian groups at the expense of the previously sizable neutral group."

Dr. Scherich also has these observations:

3. Students are more tolerant and more

This could be accomplished, McElroy said, through increases in national productivity of which the Soviets are fully capable. Inevitably, this would be a case of our own free enterprise system versus communist economic regimentation.

For the United States, cutbacks in consumer production, increases in heavy industrial output, greater military outlays and higher taxes for more and more of this and that—these are likely to be the requirements to maintain a safe margin over the Russians.

Personal sacrifices and what might amount to national austerity are never a pleasant prospect. But unless "hard choices" are accepted, as McElroy pointed out, "we may come out second best in a competition in which there is no second prize."

interested in helping their fellow man than a generation ago.

4. Students today are happier, more contented and more serious than those of a generation ago.

5. Students know little or nothing about the Bible.

6. Literal interpretation of the Bible is just as common among students today as at any time this century.

7. Students still have difficulty reconciling biblical and scientific teachings.

8. College has little influence on a student's basic philosophy of life.

Smiles Not Always Friendly

Ellis O. Jones, whom I do not identify, recently sent me a brochure prepared by Cyrus Eaton, the capitalist. Apparently, Ellis O. Jones sends these brochures far and wide, my copy coming to me unsolicited, but welcome because it gives a further view of Eaton's thinking on the subject of the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia — a subject to which Eaton has devoted his spare time.

Eaton says:

"Throughout my stay in the Soviet Union, I made a determined effort to meet and talk to as many people of all ages and occupations as possible. Regrettably, I do not speak Russian, so I was obliged to communicate through an interpreter. I did not have to rely on my interpreter, however, to sense that one of the most marked characteristics of the Russians is their friendliness."

When I lived in China, I was always being told that the Chinese are a very friendly people because they always seem to smile. It's like the old song:

"There are smiles that make us happy
There are smiles that make us blue . . ."

There are lots of people in China, 500,000,000 or 600,000,000 of them. Nobody has ever taken a scientific census. Some like Americans; some do not. In the Boxer Rebellion, which happened long before there were any Communists (1900), the Americans in Peking and Tientsin had as tough a time as anybody else. In recent years, Americans have been imprisoned and murdered just because they are Americans. It is the same in Russia.

The fact that people smile does not mean that they are friendly; it may mean that they are embarrassed. At any rate, a person who does not speak the language will have a hard time discovering whether he is smiled at because he is loved or whether he is smiled at because he is thought to be a fool.

But it is not smiles that concern Cyrus Eaton. After all, he is a businessman who is Chairman of the Board of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway and Chairman of the Board of Steep Rock Iron Mines, Ltd., and until he became a protagonist of Soviet Russia, he devoted himself to business and did very well indeed, most of the time. So mark what he says:

" . . . A Russian can own his own house if he chooses to, but the land on which it is built belongs to the state. There is no rent for the land, but a property tax based on the value of the land. The Russian owns all the furnishings of his home and, if he has an automobile and a radio, those are his property, too. At present, he has to pay cash on the barrel head for everything. If instalment buying is

MAYBE Manhattan Island wasn't such a bargain after all when the Indians sold it to Peter Minuet for $24. According to a new version of the incident, "Pete" was just about to shell out the money when his glance fell on a body of land to the eastward. "Just a moment, boys," he said to the Indians. "Doesn't that happen to be the Borough of Brooklyn over there?"

"So what?" replied the Indian chief with a trace of anger in his voice. "For twenty-four bucks do you expect the place to be perfect?"

Family Trip Do's, Don'ts

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

So you're taking the kids on a vacation trip in the car this summer?

Well, more power to you. But first let's start preparing for it now. It might take quite a while to educate the youngsters for a long auto trip.

First, let me pass on some "do's" and "don'ts" suggested by the National Safety Council. In a future column, I'll suggest a few ideas for keeping the children quiet and amused during long motor trips.

It's a good idea to explain to each child that he has a responsibility to himself, to other passengers and especially to the driver. Therefore, he must follow certain worthwhile rules.

Here we go:
Lean back, sit squarely on the auto seat.
Keep noise and activity down. No roughhousing.
Keep hands off the door handles, the ignition key, gearshift and lights.
Never tug on the driver's arm or sit on the driver's lap.
Don't lean out the window and don't put hands out the window.
Don't stand on the seat or climb around.
Don't bang toys around or dangle them out the window.
Don't throw objects, even paper candy wrappers.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva can hardly be described as cheerful.

No wonder. Before he left for Switzerland Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said he wasn't very optimistic.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd cautioned against too much optimism right after his arrival.

At a Western luncheon Sunday, reports said, Herter looked tired. French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville looked serious, and only Lloyd seemed happy.

One of the greatest deadpans in the business, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, said when he got there he expected serious work.

But his boss, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, has already said he looks on the meetings as a nuisance and a delay in getting to the summit with President Eisenhower.

This was the mood before anyone really said anything. Then it got worse fast.

The West German foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, and his opposite number, Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz, of Communist East Germany, are also in Geneva.

The West was willing for them to be at the conference, but only for consultation, if needed, and not as participants.

The West doesn't want Bolz sitting in directly because that might be interpreted as meaning the West recognizes East Germany, which it doesn't.

Gromyko began to get in some licks before he even met the Westerners.

Let's meet at a round table, Gromyko told the Westerners through his aides. The Westerners said: Let's have a square table.

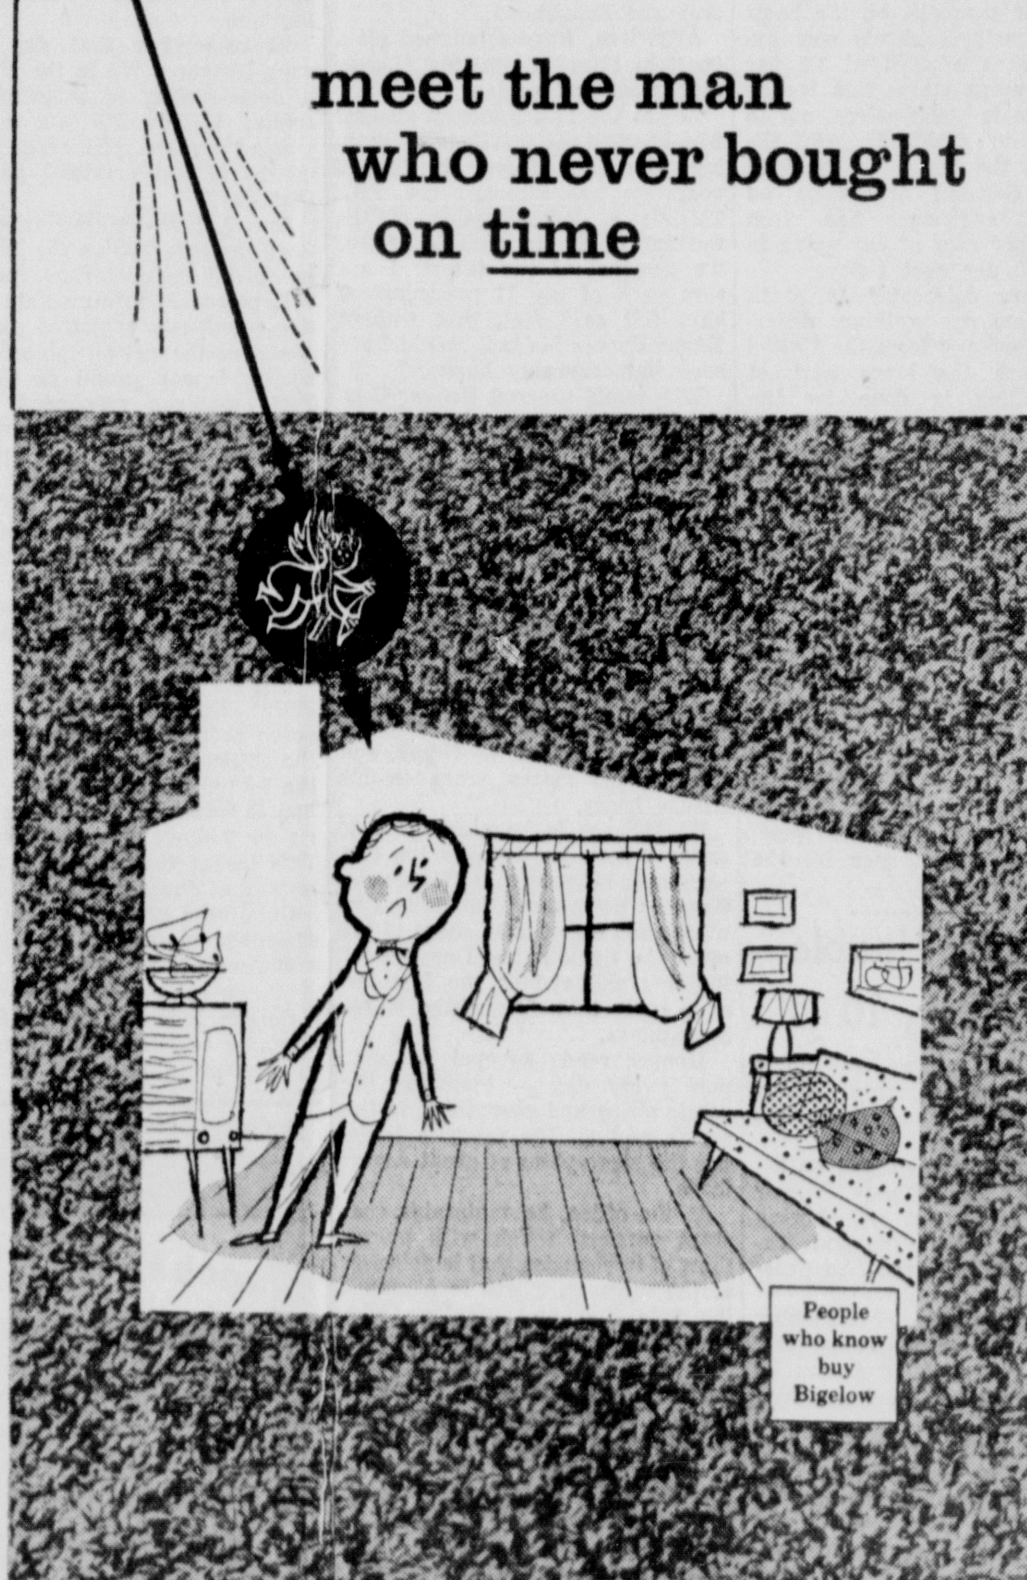

So hassle No. 1 got started.

At a round table the Soviets, who want recognition for the East Germans, could argue that seating

6 European Nations Eye New Tariffs

American Business Given Opportunity For Hard Bargaining

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The reference to the old American custom of trying to make the best horse deal is this:
If the United States wants to hold markets or create them it has plenty of opportunities to bargain with the six nations—Belgium, France, Italy, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg.

They are embarked on a long term project of lowering and finally eliminating all trade barriers between themselves and in erecting a common tariff on imports from the outside.

Most of the nations outside the Iron Curtain will be represented at the upcoming meeting of GATT—the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. This will be a large scale horse trading session aimed at further lowering of tariffs and trade restrictions through concessions by the individual nations amongst themselves.

Previous meetings have brought cuts in duties on many products. And some of the cuts have aroused pained outcries from American industrialists. They held that American import duties were being cut on products in competition with their own, thus threatening their home market.

The cuts were made as concessions for lower trade barriers on American exports to other countries. This is the sort of deal that an official of the common market expects the United States to make with the six nations. The six are all hardheaded traders.

Their announced long term aim is to lower trade barriers not only between themselves but with the 11 other European nations with whom they are associated in the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and then to lower barriers with the nations in the dollar area and those in the sterling area not connected with OEEC.

But while working out the many problems of unifying their own countries economically, the six appear to outsiders to be chiefly, and understandably, interested in the greatest good for themselves.

The products, economies, trade and currency positions of the six vary widely. Officials of the common market are struggling with the problem of unification—moving slowly and through an almost endless series of conferences.

The 11 OEEC members not in the common market, but heavy traders with it, are worried lest they, like the Americans, see their trade hamstrung. At the moment negotiations between the six and the 11 seem stalemate—but here, too, a spirit of horse trading appears to be building up.

At the headquarters here of the common market, officials admit the problems, internal and external, but insist that in the long run the interests of American businessmen won't be hurt.

But Americans, watching their export markets decline in many parts of the world, aren't so sure. Combined, the six nations will form an industrial unit equal in world trade terms with the United States and able to produce many goods cheaper.

Consumer Spending Is Up, Helping Erase Recession

NEW YORK (AP)—Fast-paced consumer spending on new homes, new cars and almost everything else has put new zip in the nation's comeback from recession.

Just about all the major indicators pointed up.

Folks who like to worry could find the usual quote of uncertainties and doubts. The current crop included strike talk in the steel industry, scattered pockets of unemployment, the continuing lag in U.S. exports, and the decision of the big U.S. automakers to start building small "compact" cars this fall.

There was talk, too, of a general summer letdown after strike-hedge buying of steel and other commodities has run its course.

But if Mr. and Mrs. American Consumer were worried, they gave no sign.

Ward's Automotive Reports said new car sales soared to 503,890 last month, making April the first month since June 1957 to beat the half-million mark. Auto manufacturers responded by rolling out 136,650 cars this week, a new 1959 high and a whopping increase of 87 per cent over the same week last year.

Chain and department stores reported sales increases. April sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. set a new record and topped the same month last year by nearly 12 per cent; Montgomery Ward's April business was up a hefty 14 per cent. The Federal Reserve Board said department store sales in the 12 Federal Reserve districts in the week ended May 2 bettered the year-ago total by 8 per cent.

The spring surge in home building prompted economists to raise their sights for 1959—they now look for a total of 1,300,000 new homes to be started. The only worry here is that banks and other lending institutions may run short of mortgage money.

Outlays for all kinds of construction jumped last month to a record of nearly 4 1/2 billion dollars. The total for 1959 is projected at 54 billion, compared to 49 billion in 1958, despite the fact that school construction is falling off as home owners balk at tax increases.

Another sign of upturn: Sakesmen who peddle everything from soap to encyclopedias door-to-door say business is up 6 per cent over last year.

Optimism was the keynote this week as top leaders of government and industry met at Hot Springs, Va., for the spring conference of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council.

Some—notably the federal government—more optimistic than others. The economists predicted at least 12 months more of rising prosperity with the nation's output of goods and services touching an annual rate of 490 billion dollars a year in the final 1959 quarter.

Other conferees, including heads of some of the biggest U.S. corporations, were more restrained.

While agreeing that recovery will continue, they warned that there are a couple of big "ifs" in the economic picture.

For one thing, they said, there's no way of knowing what will happen to the auto market when General Motors, Ford and Chrysler come out with their new "compact" cars.

Another big "if" for just about everybody this week was the steel strike question. Union and management negotiators, meeting in New York, accused each other of promoting inflation and plotting an industry-wide shutdown. Chief target of the union's ire was a management proposal that the companies come to each other's assistance if just one or two of them are closed by a strike. President Eisenhower warned both sides to avoid another inflationary wage-price surge. Otherwise, he hinted, the government may step in. For all the bitter charges and counter charges, the first week of negotiations ended on a hopeful note. The preliminary talks were "very constructive," the negotiators said, and both sides are ready to get down to give-and-take bargaining Monday.

The stock market this week behaved like a roller coaster. Space age and other so-called glamor stocks reached for the moon; some returned to earth in a whirlwind plunge that left brokers and investors gasping. Wall Street experts said the boom in space stocks had little substance behind it. Said one broker: "It was based mainly on psychology, hope for the future, and hot air."

Stock sales in the latest week totaled 18,993,800 shares compared to 17,775,705 shares in the previous week and 14,103,810 in the same week last year. Bond sales had a par value of $31,884,600 in the latest week against $29,587,500 in the week before and $24,163,500 in the corresponding 1958 week.

Mrs. Lewis Cook Jr. Gives Program At Women's Club

Mrs. William Speakman was elected president of Circleville Junior Women's Club when its May meeting was held Thursday evening in Mrs. Speakman's home on Reber Avenue. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Richard Pettit, vice-president; Mrs. Earl Wolfe, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Turner, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Maynard Slack, treasurer. Mrs. Stanley Spring, retiring president, was elected to the newly established office of historian.

Mrs. Lewis Cook, Jr. was guest speaker for the evening. Mrs. Cook, the former Carmen Rivero, of Madrid, Spain, gave a description of her native country. She said the people of Spain place great emphasis on art, which was very evident from the many pictures she showed of Santiago, Granada, Sevilla and Pontevedra.

In describing the educational system of Spain, Mrs. Cook stated that children go to school the equivalent of our kindergarten through the seventh grade, and after that they may take college training. In their non-coeducational system, those who can afford tuition attend private schools, while the remainder attend the free public schools. According to Mrs. Cook, a high percentage of children quit school and start working at 14 years of age. She, herself, worked for a famous fashion house for six years before her marriage.

Among Mrs. Cook's most treasured memories are the summer vacations she enjoyed in the mountains and beautiful countryside of her native land.

When asked to describe the typical Spanish kitchen, Mrs. Cook stated that it is very small and that most people used coke for cooking. They have no refrigerator and therefore have to shop every morning for the day's supply of food. She added that their favorite foods were Spanish rice and fresh fish.

Climaxing her talk, Mrs. Cook danced the Muneira, which is a dance of Galicia. She wore a Spanish costume, typical of those worn to parties or picnics where dancing is part of the program.

Mrs. Spring presided at the business meeting which was opened by reading the Club Collect in unison. Members answered the roll call by naming the country or city they would most like to visit.

Mrs. Speakman presented the awards given to Junior Women's Club at the Convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in Toledo, April 14, 15 and 16. These included a third prize ribbon for the club's scrapbook, a district second prize ribbon for their yearbook, an Honor Roll Citation, and a Junior Score Card Honor Award.

Mrs. William Ford was elected to membership in Junior Women's Club. At the close of the meeting, members displayed their millinery talents by modeling hats which they designed depicting their husbands' occupations. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Richard Pettit and Mrs. Dwight Rector, with past presidents, Mrs. Richard Funk and Mrs. Richard Penn acting as judges.

Other guests present were Mrs. Robert Doherty, Mrs. T. L. Houston, Miss Alice Ada May, Mrs. William Rowell and Mrs. Robert Kurtz.

Refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Edwin Eaton.

The next meeting will be held at the Pickaway Arms on June 4, at which time the newly elected officers will be installed.

Mrs. Don McAfee installed the newly elected officers.

It was reported that eight sick calls had been made this month by members of the club.

Tigers Ousted in 2-0 Loss To Strong Linden McKinley

Pitcher Joe Adkins and his Circleville High School baseball mates made a fine effort Saturday, but were unable to subdue a strong Linden McKinley nine which downed the Tigers by a 2-0 count in the Central District Class AA Tournament finals at Grandview.

The contest turned out to be a real pitching duel between Adkins and Linden's Gerald Farrington. Each hurler allowed only two hits and they were almost untouchable when the chips were down.

Farrington, winning his eighth straight game, was by far the toughest pitcher the Tigers have faced all season. Using a combination of fastballs and curves, the speedy righthander fanned 15 and didn't allow a batter to reach second base after the second inning.

Adkins, hurling one of his best games of the season, was equally brilliant. He steamed third strikes past 11 batsmen and was at his best when men were on base.

PITCHING for the corners and determined not to give the opponents anything to hit forced Adkins to allow eight bases on balls. However, he had the ability to bear down when the bags were jammed.

Steve Bennett, Linden's speedy centerfielder, scored both Panther runs. The first came in the second inning on a perfect squeeze play and in the sixth he stole home.

Circleville's most serious threats came in the first and second innings. In the first Rowland walked with two down and big Harry Strawser promptly smashed a single over second base, Rowland holding up at second.

Rich Greenlee, next man up, stepped into a fastball for what looked like a sure hit. Linden's second baseman, playing close to the bag to hold Rowland, moved to his right and hauled the ball in.

In the second frame, leadoff man Jim Woods rifled a single into center to start a possible uprising.

Stonerock Nine Takes Twinbill

Stonerock's TV opened play in the Eastern Ohio Fastball League here Saturday with a doubleheader win over the Circleville Merchants. The winners took both ends of the twinbill by 6-0 counts.

Kenny Reid won the first game by allowing three hits and fanning 15. Jack Hix suffered the loss, permitting eight bingles and giving eight hits.

Paul Neff, allowing six hits and whiffing eight, earned the second win. Bill Cook took the loss by allowing nine hits and fanning five.

Bob Placier had a triple and Carl and Harold Gulick a double each for the winners in the first game. Harold Gulick and Speeder Davis each poked a two-bagger in the second test.

LL Tryouts Start Today

Weather permitting, Kiwanis Little League tryouts start at 5:30 p. m. today on the main diamond at Ted Lewis Park with eight-year-olds scheduled to show their talents.

All eight-year-olds desiring to play summer Little League baseball must be present today or tomorrow to be eligible.

Nine-year-olds must report for tryouts at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Park. All Little League major and minor teams managers are urged to attend these tryouts for future bidding on players.

Managers still are needed as well as umpires. Little League Director Mike Harrison said that uniforms will be supplied for Pony League and Little League major league teams.

The rally was nipped when second-sacker Jim Walberry scooped up Ray Phifer's hot grounder for a double play. It marked the last time the Tigers could get a man on base.

Linden, determined to better its 12-1 record and advance into regional play, roared back in the bottom of the second when Bennett reached outside on a one-handed swing for a single into left field. The ball bounced away from Jake Bailey and Bennett raced on to third.

GAMBLING all the way, Bennett broke for home on a two-two pitch and teammate Dave Showalter managed to get the wood on the ball for a squeeze bunt, Bennett scoring with room to spare.

Adkins, sensing the steal, threw high, but Showalter reached up to connect. He was thrown out by Phifer, but his mission was accomplished.

Bennett got on again in the sixth on a fielder's choice and displayed his speed in stealing second and third. A couple of pitches later the Panther grid star raced about halfway home and stopped momentarily.

Strawser fired the ball to third and Bennett took the cue to head on to the plate. Phifer made a quick return of the ball, but Strawser was unable to hold the agate and Bennett got his second run of the day.

Farrington, pitching with only one day's rest, struck out the side in the seventh, a feat he also accomplished in the third and fifth innings.

Circleville was awarded a handsome trophy and individual medals for its fine showing in the district finals. St. Charles won the upper bracket of the tourney by besting Cardington, 4-3. Both Linden and St. Charles move on to regional play at Delaware.

Circleville is scheduled to resume action today at Wilmington, although early morning rain indicated a postponement. The Tigers now own an 11-3 record, with one of the losses being to Wilmington.

A win over the Hurricane would go a long way in sewing up the South Central Ohio League crown for the locals.

Softball Loop Slates 2 Games

Two games are scheduled tonight in the Circleville Softball League, providing rain doesn't interfere.

The first tilt lists Circleville Merchants vs Veterans of Foreign Wars and the second involves River Oil and Laurelville.

Reds Fail To Come Up With Blast

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Before the doubleheader, pitching coach Clyde King was happy and expansive about his Cincinnati Reds hurlers.

The Reds had won three straight—two from Milwaukee's powerful Braves—and King said:

"Our pitchers don't have to worry if the opposition scores some runs early. We are an explosive outfit and can come up with the big inning x x x."

"I've contended all along that our pitching would be better than most persons believe."

King's comments were correct enough at the time, but a trifle premature. The Braves pounded Cincinnati, 12-4, in Sunday's opener and slipped past the Reds, 2-1, in the nightcap.

The second game was tense. Redleg southpaw Joe Nuxhall duelled all the way with Carleton Willey, giving up 10 hits while the Reds collected 8.

But the only telling Rhinelanders hit was Frank Robinson's homer in the second inning.

Milwaukee tied it in the third when John O'Brien walked and singled by Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock brought him home.

The decisive marker came in the ninth. Two singles around a force out put Johnny Logan on third base and after a walk and a foul-out, Aaron singled in the winning run.

The Rhinelanders outlived Milwaukee 14 - 11 in the opener, but couldn't make many runs from it, collecting two each in the first and eighth innings.

Milwaukee went to work on starter Don Newcombe and chased him after the seventh.

The Braves had only a 5-4 edge going into the eighth, but then broke loose. Five hits—all singles—plus two walks and two Redleg errors, brought in seven runs and pulled the game out of Cincinnati's reach.

Cincinnati gets a day off today. A night game is scheduled at St. Louis Tuesday.

Jets Split Doubleheader

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Chris Short took only two days to make his mark as an International League pitcher.

Short was sent to Buffalo on 24 hours recall by the Philadelphia Phillies Friday. Sunday he hurled a three hit, 1-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs after the Bisons had taken the opener of the doubleheader, 12-10.

He walked only two and struck out three in the seven inning game. The double victory gave Buffalo undisputed possession of second place in the IL, three games behind the Miami Marlins.

The Marlins split with the tail-end Havana Sugar Kings, winning the nightcap 5-1 after dropping the opener 4-1. Richmond and Columbus split a twinbill, with Richmond winning the opener 3-2 and Columbus taking the second, 1-0.

Montreal swept a doubleheader from the Rochester Red Wings 7-3 and 4-0.

From late April through October, the south edge of Arlington Park racetrack is the home grounds for Little League baseball players in Chicago's northwest suburban areas.

New Notre Dame Grid Pilot Gives Evaluation of Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—After 20 days of spring drills, climaxed by the Varsity's 21-7 victory over the Old Timers, how does new coach Joe Kuharich appraise Notre Dame football?

"Well," he said, "our freshman squad over all leaves much to be desired for positions where we don't have veterans available to fill them."

Among the newcomers who probably will be included on our top 22 playing squad next fall are quarterback Tom Jorling (Cincinnati), Tackle Joe Carollo (Wyandotte, Mich.) and guard Nick Buoniconti (Springfield, Mass.).

"Tackle George Williams, (Marshfield, Mass.) and fullback Mike Lind (Chicago) have knee injuries, but if they recover they should be among the first 22."

As for the main problems, Kuharich said:

"We have a fine passer in George Izo, but he hasn't too many good targets to throw to. We have no tackle to speak of outside letterman Joe Seibelli and our guards are not much better. We need offensive ends and our secondary defense is inexperienced. Fullback, tackle and ends pose a real serious problem."

The star of the team is Red Mack, a 175-pound sophomore halfback from Allison Park, Pa. He scored all three touchdowns against the Old Timers Saturday.

"In addition to being a deceptive runner, Mack is a good pass catcher," said Kuharich.

Saturday, the Irish used only three basic formations—the slot, one-man flanker with split ends and the tight T. It's the same style of attack employed by Kuharich when he coached the Washington Redskins.

Did Kuharich find things just about as he expected when he quit the Redskins to replace the fired Terry Brennan as head coach of his alma mater?

"That is an inner sanctum thought," he replied.

SOCK-CESS THIS YEAR—Two of the stars of the future in baseball may be the Reds' Vada Pinson and the Senators' Harmon Killebrew, both now enjoying real sock-cess at the plate. Killebrew is only 22 years old and Pinson is 20. Killebrew has had several tries with the Senators and Pinson came up with the Reds late last year. (Central Press)

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Not at All Ridiculous

DEAR ABBY: How does one go about celebrating an anniversary when, if you give the correct date, your friends will find out that you had to get married? I have been married for 19 years and will soon have a 20th anniversary. Should I celebrate our anniversary two months sooner, or should I add a year? It seems like my conscience is bothering me more all the time. Please, please give me a solution as I don't want our friends and children to know.

A DEVOTED READER
DEAR READER: If you knew how many people had the same problem, you wouldn't think it was so "ridiculous." Simply say you were married in 1938, and celebrate on your actual wedding day. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know about the others, but I was in Dallas in 1929 and Ginger Rogers won a Charleston contest at the Old

Jefferson Theater on Elm, just west of Stone Street. She was 18 years old then. In my book that makes her 57!

WISE GUY
DEAR WISE GUY: According to the World Almanac Ginger Rogers was born in 1911. You need a new book.

DEAR ABBY: I play cards at a friend's home frequently and it's gotten so that I dread going there. Here's the reason: Her husband is always home and he stands behind me and watches me play. I don't know why he never stands behind anyone else. Just me. He never says a word but I can feel his eyes on my cards and his breath on my neck and I just want to scream. It has affected my game so that I always lose over there. I haven't the nerve to say anything. Would you tell him in a nice way that he makes you nervous, or isn't there a nice way?

NERVOUS
DEAR NERVOUS: Lay your cards on the table and tell this "watcher" that it befuddles you to be watched while playing cards. Be sure to smile when you say it—and watch him smile when he moves.

DEAR ABBY: I am going steady with a boy who is my age (17) and if I weren't so nuts about him, I'd drop him. Last Sunday afternoon he said he'd be over. I waited all afternoon and he never showed up. About five o'clock I saw him riding around with some boys and when he saw me he slid down in the seat so I wouldn't see him, but he got up too fast. The next day at school he didn't even make an excuse for not coming over. He just said he "forgot." Can a boy forget a girl he says he is in love with?

STOOD UP
DEAR STOOD UP: He says he's "in love," but at his age he is only capable of a diluted variety, called "puppy love." Puppy-lovers say a lot of things that eventually land them in the doghouse. Don't take him seriously. He's got a lot of growing up to do.

Palmer Leading Oklahoma Open

OKLAHOMA City, (AP) — There's nothing like a rainy day for golf talk and that's exactly what happened after the final round of the $25,000 Oklahoma City Open Tournament was rained out Sunday.

The same players tee off today, weather permitting, hopeful of completing the 72-hole tournament.

Starting the final round, former Master's champion Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., held a two stroke lead over Tommy Jacobs, of Whittier, Calif.

Palmer shot rounds of 73-64-67 for a 204 total while Jacobs 206 was built with rounds of 66-67-73.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.
